

Intuition adds the Zenosis eLearning library to its Life Sciences offering

Intuition are pleased to announce their partnership with Intellego, a leading provider of eLearning solutions to the pharmaceutical sector.

The Zenosis library is focused on three critical areas for Life Sciences companies: Clinical Trials, Regulatory Approval and Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP).

Successful products come from years of clinical trials. Trial failures are all too common, and often cannot be avoided, but when failure results from badly run trials - the loss of investment, time and potential revenue can be significant.

Secondly, when a product successfully completes clinical trials, a compliant and correct regulatory submission is essential to gaining regulatory body approval for release to the market.

Finally, as recent plant closures and product recalls have shown, GMP are not just “nice to haves” in the pharmaceutical and medical device industries – they are mission critical processes that can mean the difference between success and failure.

Zenosis is used by pharmaceutical and biotech companies across the globe. Clients use Zenosis in a number of ways, including the induction of new staff and as a just-in-time learning resource for more experienced employees. Offered as a full library, broken down in to key learning pathways, or available as 23 individual modules, Zenosis addresses the above critical areas by offering a frequently updated resource providing vital knowledge that allows staff to comply with regulatory requirements.

Intuition CEO, David Harrison says “Intuition is pleased to partner with Intellego to offer the Zenosis library as part of our product offer globally. Intellego’s Zenosis library offers Intuition’s clients key training in mission critical business areas, and complements Intuition’s existing portfolio of Life Sciences solutions. We look forward to a long and productive partnership with Intellego”.

Andy Hasoon, CEO of Intellego commented “We are pleased to be working with Intuition to extend the reach of the Zenosis suite of learning to a global pharmaceutical audience. The partnership with Intuition is a great fit for us because of their professional blended learning approach and we look forward to close collaboration with them; thus continuing to extend Intellego’s world class digital learning products and solutions to achieve our objective of ‘collective knowledge shared”.

About Intuition

Intuition was established in 1985 to provide computer based training to financial markets. The company has grown to become the leading provider of technology enabled learning to the life sciences, pharmaceutical, biopharmaceutical, medical device, and public sector health industries.

About Intellego

Intellego is a digital learning company which specialises in the provision of productivity improvement, compliance and process change using training to provide the solutions. The appropriate solution may involve digital learning, instructor led training, or a combination of both (blended learning), to regulated industries and distributed workforces. Zenosis is an Internet-based, regulatory and compliance learning-on-demand resource. Zenosis offers a flexible and cost-effective way of training your people on GMP, Clinical Trials and Regulatory Submissions and Approvals.

For more information

Contact Becky Rehill

Email: brehill@intuition.com

Tel: 353 1 605 4300